FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Care Communications recognized by the National Association for Business Resources as one of “Chicago’s 101 Best and Brightest Companies to Work For”

Health Information Management consulting and staffing company honored for second consecutive year

CHICAGO, July 13, 2009 – Care Communications Inc., a nationally recognized leader in the health information management (HIM) industry, announced today it has been recognized as one of “Chicago’s 101 Best and Brightest Companies to Work For” by the National Association for Business Resources (NABR). 2009 marks the second consecutive year that Care Communications has received the award, after being recognized as the Elite award winner in the small business category in 2008.

“In today’s economy, keeping talented and committed employees is more important than ever, as they play a vital role in our success, as well as the success of our clients,” said Leslie Fox, CEO of Care Communications. “Being acknowledged for a second year in a row reflects Care Communications’ continued commitment to attracting and retaining the best talent in the competitive HIM industry.”

These NABR awards were established to honor companies across all industries that recognize employees as their greatest asset. The competition received hundreds of entries and recognized the top companies as “Chicago’s 101 Best and Brightest Companies to Work For.” An independent research firm evaluates all entries and assesses nominated companies on several key measures, and each application is examined statistically for quantitative data and scored using a point system. Companies receiving the highest points are selected as the winners.

The NABR will recognize winners at the “Chicago’s 101 Best and Brightest Companies to Work For” annual symposium and awards luncheon on Monday, August 10, 2009 at the Chicago Oak Brook Marriott in Oak Brook, Ill. Along with honoring winning companies, NABR will also present 11 elite awards, at the event.
